> MOTIVE LACKING FOR THE BETHEL TRAGEDY Funerals of the Five Victims Will Be Held Today.

Bethel, Conn., Dec. 30 .- Further in attending the slaying by William A. Steele of four members of his family at their home here last night and the subsequent suicide of Steele, failed to disclose any motive for the crime The authorities are convinced, how ever, that Steele attacked his wife in a moment of jealous rage and that his brother-in-law, James L. Riley, went to the woman's assistance and fell victim of the murderer's axe while trying to defend her.

It is conjectured that after killing his wife and her brother, Steele's frenzy took full possession of him and led him to batter in the heads of the two little daughters of his wife, Winnie and Hannah Hubbard, aged 6 and years, respectively.

The authorities have been unable to determine definitely the hour at which the crime was committed, but it is beieved that the murders took place before half past four in the afternoon, at which time Steele purchased the poison with which he ended his own life an hour and a half later. The five bodies rest in an under taker's establishment and the funerals will be held tomorrow. Mrs. Hannah Riley, mother of the murdered woman. has refused to permit the murderer to be buried with the other members of th family and he will have a separate funeral tomorrow, while a quadruple funeral will be held over the odies of the others.

Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodg ment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly njure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nosrils frequently with a solution of warm vater and salt, insert vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month.
